Freedman has also served as Head Coach at Brimmer and May School in Boston, Massachusetts, where he led his team to four straight league championships and the New England Prep School Championship in his four seasons at the school. Freedman has coached and worked with top players such as Chris Paul, LeBron James and Dwyane Wade.

In the Summer of 2009, Coach Freedman was named the Head Basketball Coach at the Kiski School in Saltsburg, PA. Kiski School is a boarding school for boys in 9th through 12th grade and Post Graduates. The Basketball team was listed among the Top Prep Basketball programs to watch in the country by ESPN.com.

Prior to starting his coaching career, Freedman was a member of the 1996 UMass Men's Basketball Team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four. Freedman earned a degree in Sports Management at the University of Massachusetts and a Law degree at Seton Hall Law School in New Jersey. Coach Freedman currently serves as the President and Director of Basketball Stars of America LLC and Hoop Mountain PA Basketball, companies that provide year round basketball programs in the Western Pennsylvania area.
